FOREWORD

In choosing Time as the theme for the 1965 "Archives", we, the yearbook staff, realize that we know very little about it.

We have learned only that Time drags when there are unpleasant tasks to be done, and that it flies when fun is in the air.

We are sure though that there sometime comes to all a time for looking back. It is our desire that this book will be with you then, a guide to take you through the long corridors of Time once again to these our high school days.

Dedication

High school years may be compared to a great canvas

Upon which we, as students

Paint an important portion of the pictures

Which will some day be the portraits of our lives

Every day, each event, each person we meet

Becomes a part of the final composition

Here at Jefferson

There are two people

With whom we have all been associated

Throughout most of our high school days

The principles for which they stand and the ideals which they've taught

All have become a part of us

Coloring our days at Jefferson

And giving new perspective

To the years to come

It is for these reasons and many more

That we the "Archives" staff

Take pleasure in dedicating this

Our 1965 book of memories

To Mr. Fred A. Sakel and Mr. Basil Rath

Not only teachers, but friends

Mr. Sakel

Mr. Rath

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

And as the sands that filter through the glass
Take, one by one, their places
And interweave irrevocably
The patterns of our lives
There are, too, those who through their days
Have gathered words and deeds
To help us in finding meaning
In our own

MR. HAROLD F. SODT, SUPERINTENDENT....

Mr. Sodt, well-experienced in the field of education, has spent a major part of his career at Jefferson. He has successfully held his position as superintendent of Jefferson Schools for sixteen years.

He holds a Bachelor of Science and a Master of Arts degree, obtained from Eastern Michigan University and the University of Michigan respectively.

Board of Education.....

The School Board sees that the high school functions properly. It is faced with important decisions concerning appropriations, curriculum, and administration as well as any special problems which may develop.

MR. RAYMOND A. KESSLER, PRINCIPAL .....

Mr. Kessler, a graduate of the University of Toledo, has been with the high school since its beginning. Under his guidance, Jefferson High School is growing in maturity and recognition.

Many students at Jefferson have grown up under Mr. Kessler's jurisdiction. All have been impressed by his friendly but firm personality.

MRS. MEYER, SECRETARY ....

Too much to do in too little time. This situation seems to confront Mrs. Meyer almost daily. One of her many secretarial duties is dealing with the many students who frequently wander into the office.

COUNSELORS .....

Mr. Gossard heads the counseling department at Jefferson this year. The other members of the staff are Miss Dick and Miss Schlorb, who counsel in addition to teaching their regular classes. This competent staff handles both personal and academic problems. One of their biggest problems is keeping seniors informed of college and scholarship opportunities.

Jefferson High School Faculty.....

Many familiar faces, as well as six new ones, make up the twenty-eight member teaching staff at Jefferson this year. Many members of this competent staff devote much of their time to extra-curricular clubs and activities in addition to their regular teaching duties.

This has been a busy year for Mrs. Vincent. In addition to handling her many duties in the library, she is connected with many important activities. One of her most important extra-curricular positions is that of scholarship advisor.

The lounge is the teachers' only escape from their beloved students. Here they enjoy the luxuries of school life, a soft chair and a bottle of "coke".

Their work is never done...

The cafeteria staff is responsible for feeding the army of students which invades the lunchroom daily. They do their best to prepare meals which are both healthful and appetizing.

Mrs. Avendt, a very important part of the lunch program, keeps things going smoothly.

Mrs. Doran, Mrs. McLaughlin, and Mrs. Regelin are putting the finishing touches on one of their most popular meals.

Most of the students at Jefferson High School are not familiar with the custodial staff. Although the school takes a constant beating from the students, the custodians keep it beautiful with excellent maintenance work.

Mr. Breslin is in charge of the custodial department.

ACTIVITIES

Somewhere between the dawning and the setting sun
There are a few and fleeting moments
More precious than the rarest jewels and ermine robe
For these are moments spent with friends
Yet spent not, in reality, but saved and stored away
Within our hearts
To become for hours of looking back
A joy, a smile, a hearty laugh, a tear
A priceless memory

Our queen in all her glory!

Homecoming - the

The highlight of school activities in the fall is, of course, Homecoming. Spirits are high, and all are cheering for their team and queen candidate.

The week beforehand is all hustle and bustle preparing for the big event.

The night before was the traditional bonfire and burning of the football dummy.

The half time ceremonies included the parading of the queen candidates in their shining convertibles and then the presentation of each on the field.

Tension built to a peak during the dance later in the evening. Then the crowning of our Homecoming queen, Miss Janice Tomkinson.

The climax is the crowning of a new queen.

highlight of fall activities...

Kathy Breslin, Princess of Grace, and Jackie Kohler, Princess of Admiration.

The halftime brought the presentation of the queen candidates.

MISS JEFFERSON

Miss Jean Boudrie, who represented our school in the annual Monroe Torch Drive Parade, holds the honorable position of Miss Jefferson.

To acquire this standing a girl is judged on leadership, neatness in appearance, and most vital of all, a high academic record.

Jean includes in her future plans either business school or beauty college. She is now serving as junior class treasurer and holds the same office in G.A.A.

One of the requirements of Miss Jefferson is a high academic record. In chemistry Jean studies with a friend to keep up her grades.

In sociology Paula is a diligent listener.

MISS DAR...

Miss Paula Franke was chosen Jefferson's Miss D.A.R. Good Citizen for 1965. The Nancy De Graff Toll Chapter of The Daughters of the American Revolution is the sponsor of the program. A senior girl from each high school in the county is chosen because of her outstanding qualities in dependability, service, leadership and patriotism. Paula met these qualities, and therefore is our representative.

Paula is a well liked member of the class of '65. She is known for her sparkling personality and a very hearty laugh. Among her activities are cheerleading, French club, student council, dramatics club, and F.T.A.

Mystery, comedy a-plenty as seniors present play...

Aunt Susie Stowe, a man-hating spinster, Dot Fox, inherits a sausage factory contingent upon her marrying the woman-hating Omar Graves, John Richwine.

It takes all of the ingenuity of her niece, Joy Herbert, Jan Tomkinson, and her fiance Johnny Rogers, Dennis Hagey, plus some potent love lozenges provided by LaSalle Johnson, Darryl Eighmey, to turn the trick.

Subversive forces involving exotic and mystic Madame Zola, Karen Andrews, plain looking and not-too-smart Laura Dawson, Andrea Roberts, Slick Conway, Leonard Schneider, Cynthia Dunning, played by Linda Carroll, do all they can to discourage the match.

A lady lawyer Portia Lark, Ginger Poe, and Scarlet Dean, Joy's maid and also a victim of LaSalle's love lozenges, played by JoAnn Niedermeier, add to the confusion as "Aunt Susie Shoots the Works."

Members of the technical staff include, Linda Dobson, Kathy Ery, Jan Gustafson, Cindy Goodwin, Judy Madon, Karen Smith, Sue Eckert, Larry Orr, and Robert Poore. The play was directed by Mr. Rath.

Jan Tomkinson comforts a terror-stricken JoAnn Niedermeier.

Darryl Eighmey and John Richwine listen with delight as Andrea Roberts rehearses her country-style dialect back stage before the curtains open.

Mystic Karen Andrews calls on the spirits for Dot Fix and Ginger Poe.

"Aren't you glad to see me?" asks Dennis Hagey of Jan in one of the play's many moments of tenderness.

JUNIORS PRESENT BROADWAY HIT...

A famous Broadway hit, "The Importance of Being Earnest" by Oscar Wilde, was the selection by the juniors for their class play.

Mr. Jerry Nickles, who directed the play was assisted in handling the technical problems of production by Joe Sassic, student director, Tim Lockwood, house manager, and Bob Grove, business manager.

Everett Poore as John Worthington, Gary Betway as Algernon Moncrieff, Ron Cunningham as Rev. Chasuble, Bob Edwards and Tom Mata as the butler and man servant respectively, constituted the male parts.

Female roles were played by Ginger Towne as Lady Bracknell, Paula Creason as Gwendolen Fairfax, Karen Forbes as Cecily, and Margo Parmenter as Miss Prism.

The drudgery of learning lines, spending long hours at practice, and putting up with corn starch in their hair, and gobs of grease paint on their faces paid off big for all concerned in a highly successful two night stand on November 20 and 21.

Future legislators...

One of the most important organizations at Jefferson is the ruling body of student school life, the Student Council.

Elected by the students themselves, the representatives, two from each home-room, work with the faculty and administration in establishing policies and programs that will benefit and improve the school. Funds for accomplishing these undertakings are provided by an occasional all-school movie or dance sponsored by Council.

Students and teachers are kept informed of the group's activities by regular bulletins covering minutes and business transacted at the meetings and by reports from home-room representatives.

The fall elections for class officers are supervised each year by the Fair Elections Committee. It is also the responsibility of Council to check and approve all posters advertising school activities placed in the school.

Erika and Mr. Gossard are discussing future plans for the Student Council.

At one of the Student Council's regular meetings each member seems to be engrossed in the problems and decisions in preparing for the Second Annual All-School Spring Carnival.

Recording our times...

Yearbooks don't just happen. There is a lot of work involved in getting 120 pages of names under the right faces and saying the right thing about people, places, and events.

This year's staff was headed by Judy Madon, editor, and Tanya Marshall, copy editor. Charlotte Fleszar, business manager; Larry Orr, advertising manager; and Jan Tomkinson, sales manager, handled the financial problems.

John Richwine, photo editor, and Ed Hutchinson and Shara Senker, art editors, provided the layout and general design of the book.

Editors of various sections of the "Archives" include Darryl Eighmey, faculty; Chris Owsinek, activities; Bill Antaya, organizations; John Cronk, sports; Jackie Kohler, underclassmen; and Kathy Ery, seniors.

Kathy, Jackie, and Tanya find a humorous "typo" in reading copy.

Bill and Darryl are mounting photographs for the final pasteup.

Larry, Janice, and Charlotte get the afternoon off from school to go ad hunting.

Ed and Shara are cropping photographs to desired sizes.

Brains, leadership, service, and character...

Academic achievement, character, leadership and service to the school and community are the qualities which mark members of the National Honor Society.

The organization, which was started three years ago at Jefferson, high-lighted this year's activities with an "orientation tea" (Cocoa, really) for prospective candidates from the sophomore class. Purpose of the program was to acquaint sophomores with requirements to be met and to encourage them to work toward NHS membership.

The orientation tea for prospectived members was a great success.

Reporting the news...

Leads, the five w's headline count, the office beat, feature stories, straight news, ems, ens, picas, justified margins, and a score of other problems, all under the pressure of impossible deadlines, are just a few of the many problems facing the "Bear Facts" staff.

Most of the actual putting together of the bi-weekly school paper falls at first upon the second-year journalism class. Gradually, however, the first year class takes over a larger share of reporting and editing the news.

a neat beat...

What would school be like without music? It's hard to imagine, for in the short time that the JHS Band and Chorus has been in existence, it has already firmly established itself as an important part of school life and tradition.

At pep rallies, at basketball games, on the gridiron, at concerts and assemblies the Band and Chorus are the Jefferson version of the Piper of Hamelin leading the way to happier, better high school days.

The Bear Band with the assistance of the majorettes form the Jefferson "J".

Lettermen...

The Jefferson Varsity Club, which started in the junior high building, is now the oldest organization in JHS. The club is under the direction of head football coach, Mr. Cisco.

One of the many projects of the Varsity Club this year was the drafting of a code of ethics.

During basketball season their main activity is handling the coat room and selling programs at all home athletic events.

Dan Whitaker, chairman of the coat room committee, pauses after a crowd of students check their coats and go to see the game.

Lady Athletes ...

The G.A.A. activity schedule includes sports such as volleyball, basketball, softball, tennis, archery, track, hiking, and tumbling in addition to this the girls act as their own score keepers and referees.

The G.A.A. is now a member of the Michigan State G.A.A. and next hopes to become a member of the National Girls Athletic Association.

Jefferson shows talent to Whitford by taking two out of three games.

For a first year organization, the Future Homemakers of America, Jefferson chapter, has been a busy one.

With two meetings a month, the girls are able to cover many of the problems they expect to someday successfully meet in establishing happy, well adjusted family homes.

A toy repair shop sponsored by the group provided many Christmas surprises for needy children of the community this year.

Parlez-vous Francais...

The French club was formed to further knowledge of French civilization and culture.

Members must have completed the first year of French. They hold monthly meetings in which they discuss business and plan entertainment programs.

Pipis, Joan Paul, Linda Swanson, Kathy Breslin, Margo Parmenter, Brenda Ellison, Wanda Owsley. THIRD ROW: Ron Marshall, Lewis Horn, Ed Pipis, and Dennis Hagey.

School "marms" 1970 style...

A common interest in teaching as a profession has prompted a group of students to form a Jefferson chapter of the National Future Teachers of America.

Through guest speakers at their meetings potential pedagogs learn the good and the bad about the profession and have an opportunity to evaluate teaching methods.

Is There a Doctor in the House...

The Future Nurses of Jefferson have been formed to add to the growing interest of those who plan on being nurses.

Through the help of field trips and guest speakers many questions about nursing have been answered.

Behind the Scenes ...

When things run smoothly, they aren't apt to attract much attention. For this reason the group of eleven girls who handle the innumerable behind-the-scenes office chores receive little public notice.

Absence lists, faculty reports, announcements, phone calls, and general errands are just a part of their daily activities.

Time study programs show that three out of every eleven office girls spend valuable time decorating Christmas trees.

Circulation experts...

Students who work in the library receive one half a credit. They are commonly seen putting books back on shelves, making lists of new books, and checking out books.

Ready for dictation...

The objective of the newly formed Business Club is to bring the students of the business department into closer contact with each other and to aid in creating good business attitudes.

The club holds meetings on the second and fourth Wednesday of every month at that time they discuss business problems.

Members of the business club must be juniors and seniors and take at least two business subjects.

Shades of the Phantom ... The play's the thing ...

The Phantom club has been established to promote activities and athletic events through participating in, and attending the many sport events.

Clowns to leading ladies, all are actors, and who can say at this writing which of these names and faces will some day glitter in lights along Broadway.

Presentation of one-act plays and skits for pep rallies and student assemblies provide a full agenda of activities for the Dramatics Club.

urer; Phil Crutchfield, Dan Whitaker, Bill Antaya, Ginger Poe. THIRD ROW: Bill Gorno, Dennis O'Dell, Bill Absalom, public relations; Barry Berthlett, Doug Henegar, Larry Merkle, Gary Brown, vice-phantom; and Art Parzych.

ATHLETICS

A whistle blows, a buzzer sounds, a pistol cracks

The game is underway

Where seconds count

And each is packed with breathlessness

Where individuals rise to meet the test

And team and school spirit are the measurements

Of losses or of victory

Thunderation...go, fight, win...

The purpose of maintaining a good cheerleading squad is to establish school spirit and enthusiasm. Six girls have met the qualifications to represent their school at athletic contests, assemblies, and pep rallies. They may be seen rooting at football and basketball games and at school events where school spirit is displayed.

spirit--let's hear it...

Determination and spirit are two of the most important qualities of a reserve cheerleader. We know that our cheerleaders have these and that is what makes our reserve squad stand out.

Our School Song

"Let's cheer for the school that we love.
May we ever be proud of its colors.
Its emblem we gaily shall wave;
'Tis the sign of the true and the brave.
"Hurrah for our Jefferson School."
Is the cry of each faithful son and daughter.
We'll ever be loyal to you.
You are the best, by every test.
Our Alma Mater."

Spirit, desire spark winning

season ...

Spirit and desire sparked the Bears to another winning season by posting a 5-3-1 record under the guidance of Coach Cisco and Coach Zimmer in a rebuilding year for the team.

Only eight lettermen returned to the Bear squad for the '64 grid season. Six seniors and two juniors led the way for many inexperienced teammates.

The Bear fans witnessed many thrilling moments in victories over Airport, Mason, Morenci, Cherry Hill, and Ypsi Lincoln. The high point of the season came with the victory over Morenci which was Coach Cisco's old prep school.

At the end of the season Coach Cisco and his staff had to make the tough decisions for special awards. John Cronk, co-captain and guard, was most valuable player. Larry Orr, co-captain and fullback, received the best offensive back award. Norm Grahl, speedy halfback, was best defensive back. Jim Fischer with his never-say-die attitude was best defensive lineman. Rick Terrasi, junior guard, was best offensive lineman. Tom Mata was chosen most improved player and Ray "Crow" Avendt received the humor award.

Grapplers gain prestige...

Al Anderson takes down Mike McLaughlin as they battle for the 145 lb. championship.

Inter-mural wrestling originated in the gym classes under the instructions of Coach Marc Cisco and Coach Bob Sutch. All boys are matched according to their weight. Then a tournament is held in the gym classes. After the tournament the two boys in each weight class wrestle at a school program for the championship. The Champion receives a gold medal and the runner-up gets a silver medal. This is the third consecutive year Jefferson has had a wrestling program and there is much enthusiasm. Many boys are interested in forming a team.

Bill Gill, heavyweight champion, shows his winning form as he applies his half-nelson to former champ Pete Panza.

Norm Grahl, 155 lb. champion, applies extra pressure to his half-nelson as Gary Brown tries to break loose.

Scott Hudkins upsets Bill Antaya in a warm up match before the tournament. Both Scott and Bill are champions of their class.

Today's reserves, tomorrow's stars ...

The reserve football team posted a 2-3 record under the guidance of Coach Robert Sutch with victories over Ypsi-lanti Lincoln and Milan reserves.

Jim Benore led the team in scoring with 20 points. He was also voted team captain by his teammates. Jim McDevitt was second in scoring with seven points.

Season Summary

	0	Tecumseh	14
	6	Flat Rock	24

Potential shown in rebuilding year...

The young Bears showed much potential in a rebuilding year. Jefferson posted a 2-15 record with many exciting moments. The team was led by Pete Panza and John Walker. Gary Simmons and Gary Hemry, sophomores, have shown many possibilities as future J.H.S. stars. Gary Frankhouse and Ray Borrush, hard-working juniors, have shown their desire for the game by holding starting positions all season.

Juniors and Sophomores stand tall ...

John Walker (25) and Gary Frankhouse (35) go in for a rebound against Central.

Pete Panza "steals" the ball and breaks down court.

Gary Frankhouse, promising junior, takes a jump shot.

After grabbing a rebound John Walker dribbles down court.

Tom Mata (41) gets set as John Walker (25) jumps high into the air.

Gary Simmons (15) battles tremendous odds in a fight for a loose ball.

Reserves prep for "big time"...

Experience is the key to success and the reserves get plenty of experience during the games under the guidance of Coach Al Miller. Even though the reserves posted a 3-12 season they showed much desire and attitude during the campaign.

And when the journey's long

And stretches far ahead

And goals seem far away and indistinct

In misty light that is tomorrow

Then it is the sands run slowly through the glass

And hours move by

Welcome, Class of Sixty-eight ...

Although at this time, as the 1965 "Archives" goes to press you are still ninth graders and attending school in the Junior High building, next fall we, the present senior class, will be gone, and you will be here in the high school in our places. Three years from now you, like us, will be saying good bye to J.H.S.

In welcoming you as entering sophomores, Class of Sixty-eight, we extend to you our sincerest hope that your high school years will be as happy as ours have been and that when your turn comes to say good bye, you will, as we do, stand tall, proud that you are a part of Jefferson and that Jefferson is a part of you.

SENIORS

But all too soon does time with subtleness

That leaves us unaware

Steal away our carefree high school days

To stand us on the threshold

Of another epoch in our lives

Where mountain peaks which beckon through the clouds

Send forth a call

That we must go and meet

VALEDICTORY

Jefferson--Tonight we, the Class of '65, have gathered here with parents, teachers, friends, and classmates to take farewell of you and all that our four-year association with you has meant to us.

This is our last opportunity to salute you from within. Tomorrow we shall stand outside in another life no longer lived within the shadow of your walls and sheltered sanctuary of your halls and classrooms.

In but a few minutes we shall be stepping forward to realize a moment that we have long awaited, the receiving of our diplomas, material embodiments of all that you have been to us, priceless keys to the future. And as we stand in that short moment here upon this stage, we shall be standing on the threshold of the doorway of a vast, uncharted world that we have never known.

It will be a moment, I am sure for most of us, of looking back, looking back on four years that seemed so many times almost endless in their passing, four years that constitute nearly one fourth of our lives, yet four years that, in the mysterious alchemy of retrospect, have shrunk almost into the blinking of an eye.

There are many things, of course, that we, in parting, must leave behind, the excitement of homecoming, the frenzy of a football game, the thrill of basketball, dances, plays, cafeteria lines, friendships, class associations. Yet in a larger sense we are not leaving them. We shall be taking them with us as memories to brighten darker hours for many days and years to come.

And there is much more that we shall be taking with us, Jefferson, as we turn away tonight from the old to face the new, from the tried to that untried. We shall be taking with us a way of life, a creed, a map of principles, to help us find the way, for it is this that you have given us.

You have taught us the advantage gained by honesty and fair play. You have taught that we can lift ourselves without pulling others down, that we can always find horizons if we look ahead. You have taught us the value of courage, vigor, patience, honor, truth, and love and understanding. You have taught us to achieve and to accept our losses and defeats for what they are and always to come back and try again.

And as we say farewell tonight to you, Jefferson, we can only hope that in some small way there are things that we have left with you for so many things that you have given us...that we shall always be a part of you, as you will always be a part of us.

Darryl L. Eighmey

SALUTATORY

Tonight we, the Jefferson High School Class of Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-five, are gathered for the last meeting of our high school careers. Within the hour we shall be departing, after so long a journey together, each to his separate way.

For all of us this is a time of mixed emotions. There is joy and eagerness for the world that lies ahead. There is sadness and regret for the life that we must leave behind.

And interwoven with all of these is a feeling of thanks and gratitude for those who have made this great occasion, this moment of ending and beginning in our lives, a reality.

To our parents we wish to express our thanks for the many sacrifices they have made, the coaxing they have done, and the encouragement they have given in helping us attain the precious station where we stand tonight. In looking back we realize that all too often we have taken these for granted and left unsaid the thoughts that we now feel.

To our teachers and the school administration also go our expressions of appreciation for their assistance in helping us attain our goals. Their patience, their understanding, their interest, and their guiding counsel will be remembered throughout the rest of our lives.

When we leave this room tonight and walk out through the doors of Jefferson, we shall be shedding our sheltered, carefree high school days for the responsibilities of another world that we have never known. Our school friends will no longer stand beside us, and we must learn to face the challenges of society on our own. The pressures will be greater, but the rewards even more fulfilling.

Our years at Jefferson have been a stepping stone in our lives; and as we say farewell tonight, we turn our faces to the future with confidence and anticipation...with assurance that we are well prepared to meet whatever trials that may be asked of us...with thankfulness that there were those whose deeds and words have helped to translate our dreams into reality.

Andrea L. Roberts

THE SEASONS ...AND THE SEA

But four short years ago
We stood alone, and, looking as we would ahead,
A soft and distant light, a sunrise glow
That beckoned far across the darkened waves,
Was all that we beheld.

But as the seasons turned,
And leaves uncurled and spread their dainty palms
To clasp the sunlight and the dew,
And blushed and, fading, curled again and fell,
And wild geese passed overhead,
We looked and saw, a little more distinctly now,
A long low stretch of land and trees
That crowned the vast unknown, uncharted sea
And lent a meaning to our lives.

And once again the seasons turned, and wild geese passed overhead;
And as we looked again, we saw, more clearly now, a harbor calm
With ships, their sails tall and furled, at rest,
Asleep beneath the little town that clustered 'round the bay
And, clinging to each rocky craig, climbed high into the hills.

And now again the seasons and the wild geese have passed,
And we have reached the port and stand, our feet upon the whitened sands.
The swelling seas, the breathless calms are all behind.
Yet looking once again ahead...Behold, a mountain peak,
Snow-capped and silent, reaching indistinctly through the clouds,
Challenges and calls to us to climb.

And as we start again, with each a different path to take and each a different goal,
We know that these four years of toil and lessons learned,
Of joys, of friendship's fun, of disappointment and defeat
Will make us strong for tasks that lie ahead,
And that the guiding and protecting hand that brought us thus along the way,
Will lift our eyes and lead our feet and to our hearts give hope.

Prophecy...Sixty-fivers get Oscars

It was inevitable, and any one with an ounce of foresight should have been able to see that the Jefferson High School graduating class of 1965, made up of so many talented and attractive persons, would some day make an en masse invasion of Hollywood and the nation's motion picture and entertainment industry.

But as Shakespeare put it, "Man sees not himself but by reflection," so it is understandable that it would take the vast audiences of the world to discover the potential matinee idols who unsuspectingly gathered for that June 9th commencement way back in '65 to receive their diplomas.

Several years have passed now, but, as if Fate itself had planned it, we have come again to another June 9th.

We are standing under the marquee of the Hollywood Palace Theatre in Hollywood. There is a feeling of tension, elegance, and fame that fills the atmosphere, for this is the night that millions across the country have been waiting for, the announcements of the winners and the awarding of the Oscars here in the entertainment capital of the world.

But for many of us there is a strange feeling of reminiscence too, a sense of familiarity, an unexplainable feeling that we are experiencing something that is somehow similar to an occasion and events that took place on another June 9th, now dim in our memories and almost forgotten.

And then we suddenly begin to realize why! Around us on all sides are familiar faces. Oh, changed a little, a wrinkle here and there, some graying hair, a double chin or two, but still so strangely and vaguely familiar.

At first it's hard to tell for sure, but as they come closer under the lights of the television cameras, we can recognize them, every one.

Why certainly! There among the early arrivals for the festivities are Pete Panza and his lovely wife Jan. Pete has just returned from Africa, where he has won recognition as the greatest of white hunters. Jan is wearing an ostrich plume in her hat, a trophy acquired by Pete in a heroic 500 meter chase even though the bird got away.

Now approaching through the crowd is Commander Bill Adsalom, commanding officer at Annapolis, and his charming wife Linda.

Arriving in a taxi driven personally by John Walker, owner of the Newport Cab Company, are well-known photographer John Richwine from the "American Scene Magazine" accompanied by the famous June Taylor dancer Barbara Hyden.

As the camera scans the crowd, we are able to pick out several prominent citizens. Among these are the Reverend Dennis Saum of Hollywood, Ronald Marshall, United States interpreter for the U.N., Dennis Hagey, owner of the West Coast's largest Marineland, Michigan senator, Gary Brown, and Olympic track star Norm Grah! walking with Robert Burgess, owner and player-coach of the Monroe Bobcats, national professional basketball champions, and the team's towering center Chuck Liedel. Before joining the Bobcats, Chuck amassed a fortune from the sales of high-lift shoes for men which he invented.

The lobby is rapidly filling to capacity, and still the limousines continue to arrive. Now stopping at the curb is a chauffeur-driven car designed by two brilliant automotive engineers Roger Wren and Phil Morgan, and alighting from the luxurious creation are two new starlets with promising careers, Joan Connolly and Karen Smith, along with their escorts Alan Bandura and Bill Boylan.

The crowd is now rapidly moving from the lobby to take their seats. The house lights are being dimmed, and spot lights fall upon the orchestra pit, where the director of the Hollywood Symphony Orchestra, Leonard Schneider, signals the opening of the program. Seated in first chairs throughout the orchestra are such well known musicians as Dennis Farley, Ron Shoemaker, Eugene Stoner, Louie Horn, Dennis Wyatt, and Ray Fusan.

In the audience are many world-known celebrities. From here we can see Margie Neidinger, famed publisher, Linda Bleyaert and Sue McBride, leading New York columnists, Ruth Cawood, Peg Fountain, and Diane Counterman, noted Hollywood critics, retired glamour stars, brunette Judy Payne, blonde Barb Gaves, and auburn Karen Andrews. Seated with his lovely wife Paula is the noted author Robert Rosenberger, writer of the best seller, "Cheaper By Two Dozen."

Bob is said to have had a lot of help from Paula on the project.

But now the music has subsided, and stepping into the spotlight to introduce the first category of nominees for outstanding achievements in the field of cosmetology is Alan Anderson, successful director and Hollywood play boy. The contestants are Linda Bartley, Becky Smith, Colleen Rigley, and Shara Senker. Shara is the winner, and honor bestowed probably largely because of her success in eye make-up and her creation of the Senker slinky-shadow-look.

Television star Gerry Fowler, of the "Want To Know My Secret?" show, and his gorgeous wife Donna are now presenting the nomination recipients for the best fashion designer award. They are Barb Pipis, Pat Bolton, Sandy Smith, and Fred Nevel. Barb and Pat have emphasized the low neck-line, Sandy, the short skirt-line; and Fred, a combination of both. The winner is Fred Nevel.

The incomparable toe-dance team, Connie Courts and Polly McCarty have been selected to introduce the finalists for hair styling awards. Connie has made it pretty much of a one-girl show since her partner developed fallen arches. Polly's part in the act is almost solely confined to clapping her hands now and yodeling. Contestants for the hair styling awards are Kathy Breslin with her famous up-and-over-and-a-little-on-each-side creation, Janet Little with her more-on-the-top styling, Diane Pfluge with her doughnut roll, and Linda Whitaker with her let-it-fly fashion. Linda is the winner.

And now, a break in the awards as Metropolitan Opera baritone Doug Henegar sings the theme song from one of the top rated movies of the year, "Hi Ho Phantom."

Director nominations will now be introduced by actor Phil Crutchfield and his "sidekick" Judy Crutchfield whose latest movie, "Kissing Cousins" is smashing box office records all over the country. The nominees are Barb Prather, director of "My Life as a Bookstore Clerk," John Cronk director of "Mercy Killing That's for Me," Alan Mercier, director of "Hot Rod'en Round the Pointe," and Dennis O'Dell director of "The World from the Top of a Pole." The winner is Dennis O'Dell.

Now stepping from the wings into the spotlight are two Hollywood trapeze artists, Ron Liedel and Jerry Howe. They are dressed, not in tuxedos like others tonight, but in their leopard skin Tarzan tights which have become hallmarks of their daring, high-flying exploits. They are presenting nominees for the best producer of the year, Bill Antaya for his controversial melodrama, "Three Girls from St. Mary's," Richard Sartori for his musical, "Walk Straight and Fast," Larry Orr for "What Makes Janice Run," and Darryl Eighmey for "What Makes Them All Run." Darryl is the winner.

Before the Oscar award winners are presented to moviedoms outstanding actors and actresses of the year, the audience is going to witness a special treat presented by the four pairs of graceful dancers who made the Broadway version of "Mother Gooseberry," a box office success. The dancers and their partners are Suzanne Duvall and Preston Magoon, Sue Eckert and Bob Soehren, Iva Jordan, and Dan Whitaker, and Betty Maddox, and Norm Kraehnke.

And now for the highlight of the program...the presentation of the Oscar awards to the stars who have shown excellence in the acting profession itself. The first nominations, presented by Hollywood's comedy trio, Larry Merkle, Ed Larner, and Barry Berthlett, known to their millions of kiddie fans as the Three Musketballs, are for the best actress supporting role. Nominees include Donna Magoon, who played opposite Basil Rathbone in "The Old Man and the Mermaid," Cindy Goodwin, who starred with Jim Sanerant in "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk," Brenda Lawson who starred with Bob Perry in "The Man Who Said the Wrong Thing," and Linda Reno for her supporting role in "Petticoats and Pantaloons." The winner is Lin Reno.

Taking their places now at the podium are the famed comedy team, Jackie Burt and Marty Friend, whose pie-throwing act has splattered people sitting in box seats in theaters throughout the world. They will present nominees for the best supporting actor awards. Contestants are Fritz Carter, whose winning smile has made him the idol of millions and the feature of countless tooth paste advertisements on billboards across the nation. Bill Gill, who, when not making movies, is making shaving cream commercials, Art Parzych, whose none-of-that-greasy-kid-stuff-for-me hair grooming commercials leave him time for only one movie per year, and Bob Sanders, who, although he never made it to Hollywood, has received an unprecedented nomination for supporting role honors because of his outstanding achievements in real life, where he has a large wife and several fam--a large family and several wi-- a great many dependents. The winner is Bob Sanders.

And finally, the moment we have been waiting for, nominations and awards for the best actor and best actresses of the year.

To introduce the best actress nominees are Stan and Mary Hammill, famous portrait photographers for several of the important Hollywood movie studios. It is generally known that Mary does most of the actual work while Stan gets the subjects to smile or say the "watch the birdie" bit. Best actress nominees have been reduced to four, Andrea Roberts, for her pasteurized portrayal in "The Farmer's Daughter," Ginger Poe, who starred as Nurse Bridget in "All's Quiet on the Western Front," Janice Tomkinson in "I'd Rather Fight Than Switch," and glamorous Hollywood star, Betty Bussell for her role in "How to Get Yourself a College Boy?" The winner is Betty Bussell.

Writers are numerous in Hollywood, but four top contenders for honors in this field tonight are from Jefferson. Barb Squier and Betty Young, who made co-starring debuts in "The Road from Stoney Pointe," will introduce the nominees. They are Judy Madon, who wrote several books before coming to Hollywood, among them, "Don't Argue With Me Because You Know Who's Right," Linda Carroll, who got her start writing notes to boys in high school English class, Chris Owsinek, who started writing notes in the third grade, and Ed Hutchinson, whose recognition is based largely on his suspense-filled "Erikababa and the Forty Thieves." The winner is Ed Hutchinson.

Best film nominations include "Blonds Do Have More Fun" co-starring Sandi Middlemas and Charlie Brancheau, "The Wild Ones" with Don Adamusic, Gary Masserant, and Gerald Mata, "Kitten With a Whip" starring Gary Sharpe, Bob Poore, and Rosemarie Bressler, and "Fudge Finger" starring Vince Castiglione. The winner is "Fudge Finger."

Much credit for the success of the program tonight must be given to the technicians who handled its staging. Lighting was done by that electrifying threesome Jim Bonia, Clayton Thomas, and Don Mason. Camera crews were headed by Chris Basile, and costumes designed by those creative specialists Barb Blanchett, Pat Carmack and Sandra Mann under the direction and supervision of the London fashion designer Charlie Vaughn.

One feature attraction still remains, and as the spotlight falls center stage, Broadway's famous blues singer JoAnn Neidermier sings "Give Me a B."

And now the roar of thunderous applause signals the end of another historic day in the lives of those intrepid, versatile, and now world famous members of the Jefferson High School class of Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-five.

Oh, us? We've been back stage peeking through the curtain. We headline the regular show here at the Palace. It starts right after this one ends. Stick around and see.

1965 SENIORS SAY GOODBYE

It was hard to believe that the small, timid ninth graders entering Jefferson for the first time would someday be seniors.

That morning of September in 1959 was one of mixed feelings of joy and anguish. All were glad to finally be in high school but were in fear of what might happen in classes or with the upperclassmen. Many were lost because of the new building yet an air of joy rose because the upperclassmen were also lost.

The exploring freshmen did accomplish much with their following at first, and then their leading. The first three years they did the now traditional activities, the TWIRP dance, the magazine drive and the proms.

In the junior year they presented their first drama, "The Night of January 16th". In the senior year they continued on with their ambitions. They established monthly class meetings to discuss various activities. Through their class meetings they planned and perfected senior day in which they controlled the school.

They are the only class to have gone four years to the high school....The last of the originals.

Their memory as individuals may slowly fade with the passing of time, but the traditions of the class of 1965 will linger on.

Bill Absalom, president

Class officers left to right are: John Cronk, treasurer; Jackie Kohler, secretary; Bill Absalom, president, and Bob Rosenberger, vice-president.

Class advisors Mrs. Mell, Mr. Rath, and Miss Hill take a refreshing break while looking over the minutes of the previous meetings.

"I would never dare to show all my intelligence."

Charles Brancheau

"If there were dreams to sell, I'd be rich."

David Buck

"Here I am-even if I don't tell anyone."

Kathleen Breslin

"Full of Pep, and right in step."

Robert Burgess

"Cheer up, the worst is yet to come."

"My Mr. Sakel, how you've changed!" says Linda Reno to Senior Day Attendance Officer, Art Parzych.

Rosemarie Bressler

"Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm."

Jacqueline Burt

"A bee is never as busy as she seems; she just can't buzz any slower."

Beth Ann Bussell

"There is only one thing worse than being talked about, and that is not being talked about."

Patricia Carmack

"Quiet nature----a rare beauty in a woman."

Linda Carroll

"In every rank, be it great or small, she fills her place among them all."

Frederick Carter

"Someday the world will need a man."

Vincent Castiglione

"I'd go a long way in this world if I knew which way to go."

Ruth Cawood

"Silence is golden, but we're off the gold standard."

Joan Connolly

"She isn't a match, but she always has a spark."

Diane Countermand

"I'll study if I feel like it and won't if I don't."

Connie Courts

"I couldn't be good if I would, and I wouldn't if I could."

John Cronk

"I love to keep work by me; the idea of getting rid of it nearly breaks my heart."

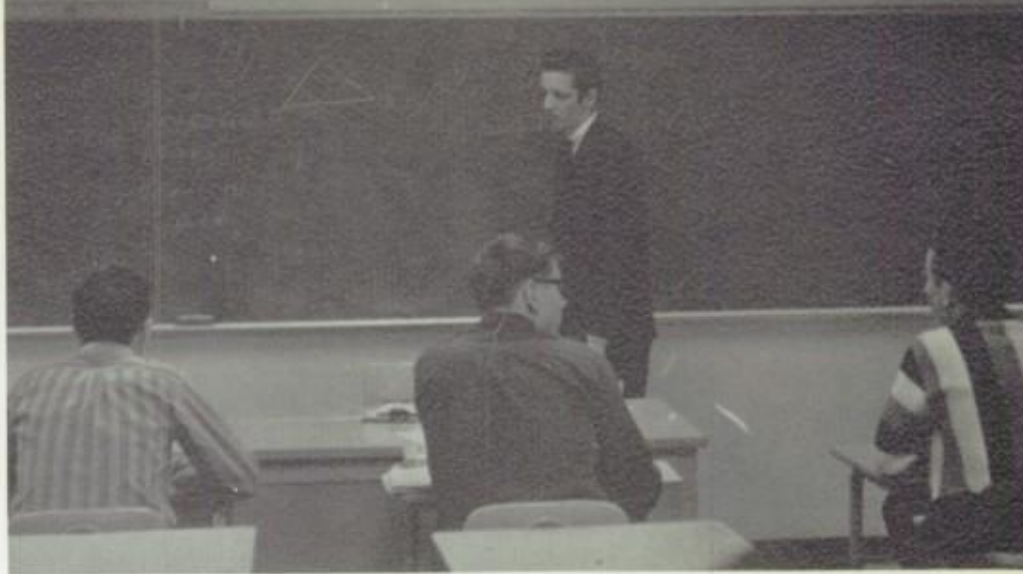

Judy Crutchfield

"Silence is more eloquent than words."

Phillip Crutchfield

"The man that blushes is not quite a brute."

On Senior Day Dennis Wyatt holds his geometry class spell-bound.

Diana DeMay

"For her own benefit she'll project a scheme."

Linda Dobson

"She has the knack of doing things well, at the door of success she will ring the bell."

Suzanne Duvall

"Now I am about to take my last voyage, a great leap in the dark."

Sue Eckert

"She has the ambitions to be a man-killer."

Darryl Elghmey

"Quite and studious, but always ready for fun."

Kathy Ery

"The difficult I do immediately, the impossible takes a little longer."

Dennis Farley

"Vim, vigor, vitality, and 'vomen!'"

Delores Fix

"Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow I diet."

Peggy Fountain

"No one ever became thoroughly bad all at once."

Ray Fuson

"Silence sings."

Gerald Fowler

"The word 'impossible' is not in my dictionary."

William Gill

"Sometimes I think, -- I think."

Paula Franke

"Laugh and the world laughs with you."

Cynthia Goodwin

"Who says all blondes are dumb?"

Martha Friend

"Anything tickles me."

Carlaine Gotha

"Be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath."

Norman Grahl

"ALL the world loves a lover."

Stanley Hammill

"I just love work - I could sit and watch it for hours."

Cynthia Grodi

"I know a lot, but I can't think of it."

Douglas Henegar

"If it's fun, I'm for it!"

Janet Gustafson

"Her sweetness is becoming."

Lewis Horn

"I've seen school -- now what?"

Mary Hammill

"A sense of humor is her ticket to success."

Gerald Howe

"Don't cry girls - There's not enough of me for everybody."

David Hudkins

"Some people have a perfect genius for doing nothing."

Alice Hutcherson

"Sincerity has a charm of its own."

Edward Hutchinson

"I don't like to argue, but I'm always right."

Barbara Hyden

"A smile as sweet as spring itself."

Iva Jordan

"In her modest way she makes true friends."

Jackie Kohler

"I like those days, but oh, those nights!"

Ed Larner

"How can I stay away from trouble when it's all around me."

Brenda Lawson

"This life is what we make it."

Charles Liedel

"All great men are dead-- I haven't been feeling well lately."

Ronald Liedel

"He has burned the midnight oil--but not for study."

Janet Little

"I can believe anything, provided it is incredible."

Betty Maddox

"A smile for all, a frown for none."

Alice Maddux

"Gentle both in speech and manner."

Judy Madon

"I'm not arguing with you, I'm telling you."

Donna Magoon

"A man is always better than a book."

Sandra Mann

"Her quiet smile betrays a heart as big as all outdoors."

Ronald Marshall

"He lives long who lives well."

Donald Mason

"To study is to suffer."

Gary Masserant

"Hope for the best, but prepare for the worst."

Gerald Mata

"Here's a boy who would be a riot, if noise were made by being quiet."

Susan McBride

"They that know no evil will suspect none."

Bill Absalom opens Senior Day with the regular morning announcements.

Paulene McCarty

"The sea is quiet also, but what secrets it holds in its depths."

Phillip Morgan

"He likes 'em short, he likes 'em tall, but we know he likes 'em all."

Alan Mercier

"I don't think I'm good looking, but what's my opinion against fifty million others."

Margie Neidinger

"She who shows courtesy reaps friendship."

Larry Merkle

"Why take life seriously, you never get out alive."

Frederick Nevel

"Tis men like me that make the world go round."

"Just exactly what measurements are you talking about?" asked Denny Farley of his Senior Day power measurements class.

Sandra Middlemas

"Chance never helps those who do not help themselves."

JoAnn Neidermeir

"I never met a man I didn't like."

Peter Panza

"Don't come to me for flattery;
I'll tell you the truth."

Dennis O'Dell

"Words sweet as honey come from his lips."

Arthur Parzych

"There's a lot of cards in the class,
but he's the only joker."

Larry Orr

"I belong to the union-my books stay closed at night."

Judith Payne

"A wife someday she'll be; a ring
she has for proof you see."

Christine Owsinek

"All I can say is 'Satan pushed me'."

Robert Perry

"Heroes aren't always dark--sometimes they're just tall and handsome."

Dianne Pfluge

"To love, cherish, and to obey."

Gary Pickrell

"He smiles with the intention of mischief."

Barbara Pipis

"Some say she's quiet; some doubt it; others know her."

Virginia Poe

"This life is one big bubble."

Carol Poore

"Questions don't bother me, it's the answers!"

Robert Poore

"Nothing succeeds like success."

Barbara Prather

"I'm willing to be convinced but I'd like to see anyone try!"

Linda Reno

"Little demons are scarce so take good care of me!"

John Richwine

"School is the spice of life--it's too bad I'm allergic to spice."

Colleen Rigley

"Why worry; it causes wrinkles."

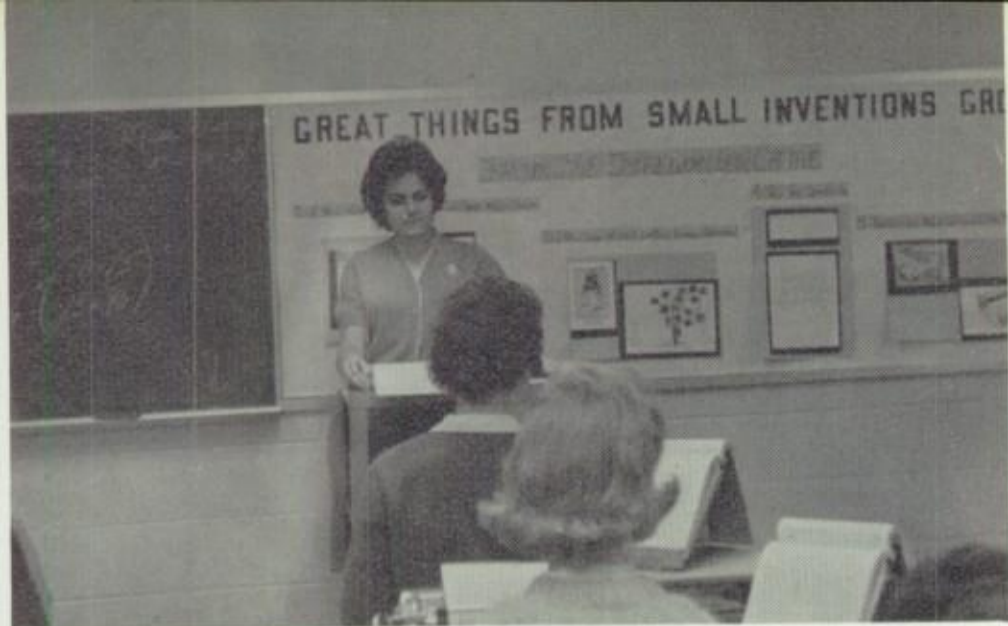

Andrea Roberts

"She has the stuff that counts - success will come in great amounts."

Robert Rosenberger

"I'm well adjusted, it's the world that's out of step."

The Senior Day typing class instructed by Colleen Rigley began their time writings with the usual, "Get ready, start."

David Rush

"School? It's nothing when you get used to it."

James Sancrant

"I'm not lazy, I simply fell in love with rest!"

Robert Sander

"It's better to sleep in class than to waste a perfectly good night."

Richard Sartori

"Greater men than I have lived-but I doubt it!"

Dennis Saum

"A proper man as one shall ever see, in a summer's day."

Gordon Saum

"Hear much; speak little."

Leonard Schneider

"I was able to answer promptly-and I did. I said I didn't know!"

Shara Senker

"You name it and I'll do it."

William Sharp

"Friends, Romans, and countrymen-lend me your girls!"

Gary Sharpe

"Silence is one great art of conversation."

Sandy Smith

"I wonder what fool it was who first invented kissing."

Ron Shoemaker

"What, no women in heaven? Down please."

Robert Soehren

"A little nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest men."

Karen Smith

"Inconsistency is the only thing in which men are consistent."

Barbara Squier

"Only two things in life that count-- boys and fun!"

Rebecca Smith

"Life is a jig saw puzzle with most of the pieces missing."

Eugene Stoner

"'Tis a great plague to be too handsome a man."

Clayton Thomas

"Blessed are they who have nothing to say, and who cannot be persuaded to say it."

Linda Whitaker

"There's a twinkle in her eye 'cause she's found the perfect guy."

Janice Tomkinson

"Carefree and cute, with a winning way to boot."

Roger Wren

"Don't let that innocent look fool you."

Charles Vaughn

"A good listener is not only popular everywhere, but after a while he knows something."

Betty Young

"She turns her back on boys--then runs backwards."

As only Louie Horn could say, "Do you think I'd be teaching chemistry if I didn't know what  $C+O_2$  meant?" Ron Marshall looks on unconvinced!

John Walker

"Some think he's quiet. . . others know better."

Dennis Wyatt

"I never study too hard,
I might get brain fever."
